

COURSE DESCRIPTION

2016 Winter Session (2016-2017 Academic Year)

ENGL 500-001 - Research Methods and Pedagogy

Research in English Studies

Term 1

English 500 will introduce first-year MA students to graduate-level research procedures and professional practices. The course will take the form of seminars and guest lectures that will cover a range of topics. Research- and course-related topics will include applying for grants, building bibliographies, practices of annotation and citation, archival research, and conceptualizing and writing a Master's thesis. Professional topics, such as how to present at conferences and how to apply for PhD programs, will also be covered.
